DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1, 3, and 5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Japanese Patent Publication 2000-353710 (Toshiba KK). Toshiba KK shows a method of peeling a semiconductor chip, 90, adhered to a tape, 91, by a peeling device including a plurality of annular displaceable contact members, 84, 83, and a displaceable contact post, 82, all housed in a stationary contact member, 81, wherein the plurality of displaceable contact members are displaced relative to each other so that the semiconductor chip is successively peeled off from the tape from the outer circumferential position thereof toward the central position (See Figs. 7a, 7b, 8a, 8b).

Regarding claim 5, Toshiba KK further shows a vacuum chamber within the frame; an opening, 80, in the top plate through which the suction device creates vacuum on the tape; and a suction device, 89, above the frame for removing the chip from the tape.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

Art Unit: 1734

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claim 4 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Japanese Patent Publication 2000-353710 (Toshiba KK) in view of Wiesler et al. Wiesler et al. teaches that cams are known for moving push up pins for removing a semiconductor chip from a tape (column 6, lines 10-13). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use a cam to move the annular contact members of Japanese Patent Publication 2000-353710 (Toshiba KK) because Wiesler et al. shows this to be an effective way to convert motor energy to linear motion of push up members in a chip releasing apparatus.

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claim 2 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

6. Claim 6 is allowed.

7. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: None of the prior art suggests moving all of the contact members simultaneously, stopping the outermost contact member, and simultaneously moving the rest of the contact members.

Conclusion

8. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.

9. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Mark A Osele whose telephone number is 571-272-1235. The examiner can normally be reached on Mon-Fri 9:30-6:00.
